LORRAINE'S PILLS,
OR VEGETABLE UNIVERSAL MEDICINE
CURATIVE
OF THE

French College of Health, in Paris.

The following letter was received yesterday by mail from Salem. It gives another evidence of the great success of Lorraine's Vegetable Universal Pills.

Sir—I have been for many years a sufferer from the ravages of Scrofula and Cancerous Humors, which at last rested on the vitals, and exhibited all the threatening symptoms of consumption. The general inability of all remedies awakened my enquiries as to the thousand different methods of cure, to most of which I had recourse without receiving benefit. I accidentally noticed a remarkable cure by Lorraine's Pills, and was induced to give them a trial. I sent to Boston and got a box. By the use of them I found immediate relief and was soon restored to a perfect state of health.

J. E. NEWHALL.
Salem, 21st May, 1841.

The following letter from J. B. Light, Esq. is worthy of notice.

Sir—I took one of Lorraine's Vegetable Pills last evening for a pain in my head, that had effected me for several days, occasioned by taking cold. I soon felt very calm, and quiet, and a state of general repose came on which had great charms, and I enjoyed one of the most comfortable and refreshing nights rest that I ever did in my life. I rose in the morning in my usual state of health, and believe it is my duty to recommend this medicine.

Yours truly,
J. B. LIGHT.
Nov. 20th, 1841.

[From Boston Daily Mail.]

Somebody wisely says, that a cap loaded with jewels and flowers will not cure the headache, nor gold chains prevent the consumption. Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have done both.

Sir—I have been effectually cured of a severe headache by the use of Lorraine's Pills.

SARAH NOYES.

Sir—My daughter had all the threatening symptoms of a Consumption, such as cough, pain in the side, &c., together with general debility, but has had her health restored by Lorraine's Pills.

Rev. J. KNIGHT.
New York City, Nov. 1, 1841.

Family Medicine.

Sir—I have used Lorraine's Pills in my family as a family medicine, and I would most earnestly recommend them to all persons, as the best medicine that can be procured. I would not be without them—they operate mildly, and never fail to give immediate relief. Until I used these Pills I was obliged to pay from $200 to $300 per year for medicines and physicians, since then I have had no doctor but Dr. Lorraine's Pills.

JAMES NEAL.
Hartford, Conn. July 8.

Lame Back.

Sarah Snow was cured of a lame back in one day, when she had been unable to dress herself alone for two weeks.

Susan Jones of Boston, cured in 36 hours of lame back and side of three weeks standing.

Sick Headache.

Mrs. Bird of Providence says, that Lorraine's Pills have proved a real blessing to her. It has surpassed anything that has been brought to the public notice. I have been cured of a sick headache that had afflicted me for years, by the use of Lorraine's Pills.

THE CONDITION.

The condition upon which nature gives health to man, is a watchful care to keep his stomach and bowels free from morbid and unhealthy accumulations. Lorraine's Pills admirably effect this, because they cleanse the bowels and purify the blood. The human body is always healthy when the bowels are regular, the blood circulates freely, and the disease invariably commences when obstructions take place in the bowels.

The extraordinary virtues of Lorraine's Pills depends upon extracts of over 50 different vegetables, all so admirably combined as to purify, nourish and invigorate the human system.

LOOKING GLASS AND PICTURE FRAME MANUFACTORY.

FAIRBANKS & HOLLAND,
PEARSON'S MILLS, BANGOR.

THE public are informed that we have established a manufactory for making LOOKING GLASS, PORTRAIT AND PICTURE FRAMES of all sizes and varieties. We have set up suitable machinery in all the branches of the business by which much labor is saved and the price of these rich and beautiful articles is greatly reduced, so that a fine article may now take the place of coarse and ill looking ones, and at a low price.

Large and elegant O G and bevel frames, and small bevel frames with rich mahogany veneer are manufactured in such quantities that we are prepared to answer, at short notice, all orders at by the hundred or thousand, at prices that cannot but be satisfactory to dealers.

New frames fitted to Portraits, Looking Glasses or Pictures, or new glasses furnished and fitted to old frames.

Dealers supplied with frames either with or without glasses.

N. B. Orders respectfully solicited for single frames or by the dozen; and as this is a new branch of Home Manufacture to any extent, we trust the public will be ready to encourage and support the enterprise.

For the convenience of our city friends, orders for frames of any kind may be left at the Hardware store of DAVID MOSMAN on East Market Place.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Ode.
By H. T. UCKLEMAN.
Written for the Anniversary of the American Institute.

When human Thought, inspired by Love,
Through Nature's deep arcana flies,
A holy sanction from above
With glory crowns the high emprise,
Creation thus benignly yields
To man her laws and treasures still—
The heaving main, the starry fields
Are vassals of his earnest will

Then is redeemed Earth's weary lot,
Exalted Labor's manly heat,
And Toil's long bitterness forgot,
In triumphs of immortal Art!
Her summons from the quarry's bed,
Calls up the Statue's form sublime,
Or bids the Press exulting spread Truth's sacred light through every clime.

O'er Matter's vast and wild domain,
The conquests of the dauntless Mind
Have felt red Passion's lawless reign,
And all Life's elements refined!
Blest Science! let thy sceptre wave,
A wand of peace o'er land and sea,
To guard new laurels for the brave,
And set the world's pale bondmen free!

The hues of flowers that bloom to die,
The boundless riches of the mine,
The fickle breezes of the sky,
And gems that pave the deep, are thine!
Thou dost the river boldly guide
For leagues, beneath rock, vale and mount,
From its calm bath-place turned aside,
To gush—a city's sparkling fount!

Thou canst transform the vapory cloud
To wings that air and ocean cleave,
And from an insect's fragile shroud,
The robe for peerless beauty weave!
The course, while yet enslaved to kings,
The monuments of old proclaim;
To-day, a nobler harvest brings—
Art's trophies won in freedom's name!

Brave Bobby.

There was an American ship, called the "Washington," bound for China, filled with passengers: on board this ship was an officer of the army and his wife, with then only child, a little boy of five years of age, and a large Newfoundland dog, called "Bobby."

Bobby was a great favorite with all the people in the ship, because he was so brave, so good-tempered, and so funny and playful. Sailors as well as passengers all liked brave Bobby. He would romp on the deck with any body that chose. Sometimes when the wind was calm, and the ship was going slow, he would jump overboard, and dash through the sea after a biscuit, or any thing else that might be thrown in for him.

But his most constant playmate was the little boy, the son of his master. This boy was a merry little fellow, and as fond of Bobby as Bobby was fond of him. They used to make a fine noise in their drill games of play, rolling over and over each other like a couple of young porpoises. And though the little boy was sometimes rather rough in his frolics with Bobby, and hit him on the head and back, yet Bobby was always gentle as a lamb to him.

The voyage had been very safe and pleasant until within three days sail of the Cape of Good Hope. Evening was coming on—the sun was setting in dark clouds, so that the dusk had commenced unusually early. The night watch of the ship had been set and the wind had risen so that the ship was sailing very fast. The boy and the dog were romping together, tugging each other, when on a sudden the ship gave a heavy roll, and the child fell overboard splash into the deep sea.

It had by this time become so dark that objects could not be distinguished many yards distant. A general cry of "A hand over!" was made by the men on deck who saw the boy fall. Two or three men ran heaving down lines, and a stray coop that was found lying near the captain, while the officer of the watch sung out, "Bring the ship to—bring the ship to, or the boy is lost."

This order was scarcely given, when Bobby, now for the first time missing the child, gave a loud bark, and seemed to guess what had happened, cleared the taffrail like a shot; and the captain and boy's parents, with the other passengers, who had come on deck to learn the cause of the outcry and bustle, saw the dog swimming away like a mad creature in the direction of the stern.

It was too dark to see him distinctly, however he was dimly perceived to dive, and then dimly appear again above water, and snatch at something. It was, however, too dusky for any body on deck, to be sure what it was that he really saw. The dog was now out of sight and nothing was visible but the surface of the water. The mother covered her eyes with her hand, and not daring to look out, fearful lest she should see the corpse of her darling child floating on the waves; while the father, equally unhappy, jumped into the jolly-boat, which the men in all haste had been getting ready, that he might spare no effort to recover his beloved son.

It was many minutes before the jolly-boat could be lowered and manned, the men rowed with all their might in the direction they had seen the dog take at first. The darkness had so much increased, that the sailors could hardly see, and began to give up the chase as lost.

The father, in great misery, sat at the head of the boat, trying to see through the surrounding gloom, and listening anxiously to every sound. "I hear a splash—I hear a splash on the larboard quarter," said he, starting up: "pull on, be quick—it must be my child."

The helmsman turned the tiller, the men pulled with redoubled force, and in a moment the faithful Bobby, with the child in his mouth, was alongside! Poor creatures! they were nearly spent when they were hauled into the boat. The father took the child in his arms, and the faithful Bobby sank down to the bottom of the boat, panting, and almost lifeless.

The men then rowed back to the ship. Great, indeed, was the mother's joy when she saw her child, that she thought was gone forever, in the arms of his father, and good Bobby with him also. They all got safe on board the ship again, and the father, thanking the sailors for helping him to recover his son, went down into the cabin with the mother, child, and dog. Every remedy was used that the doctor of the ship advised, to make the half-drowned boy well again.

Bobby, after he had shaken the water from his shaggy coat, could not be persuaded to leave the child's side. There he stood, licking one of his little hands till the child became so much better as to be able to stroke and hug him as usual.—Brave Bobby seemed as happy as any body, when both the father and mother hugged and praised him too. And when the boy could speak again, they made a happy little party in the cabin, where, before, all had been so sad.

After this circumstance of saving the child's life in so brave a manner, there was not a man on board that ship but loved the dog as a father might love his child, and well did Bobby deserve it.

At the Cape of Good Hope some of the passengers were to be landed, and, among others, the master of Bobby, with his wife and child.—All those who remained in the ship were very sorry to part with good Bobby.

The boats were prepared for the passengers and their luggage. All those who were to leave had got into the boats, the little boy was in his mother's lap, and Bobby, whom the sailors were holding to pat and take a kind leave of, was just going to leap into the boat after his master, when the officer stood up, and told the sailors to hold him tight by the collar, until the boats should have rowed some way toward the shore. "You will see what a strong swimmer Bobby is," said he, "let us start before him, and he will soon overtake us; when I hold up my handkerchief let him go!"

"Ay! ay!" cried the sailors, and two of them held Bobby tight by the collar. Poor fellow! he thought he was to be left behind, and he did not like it. He tugged, and hauled, and yelled, and barked, to get to his friends, but it was of no use. The boats put off without him.

All the people in the boats, as well as those on board the ship were eyeing Bobby with delight; and he had just reached midway between the ship and the boats, when the creature set up a loud shrill howl, and threw himself half out of the water. Every body thought he had got the cramp; but oh, no! the flash of white that glanced like lightning close against him the next minute, told the truth; and "a shark, a shark!" sounded from boats to ship, and from ship to boats, in one loud cry. All stood trembling, with their eyes fixed upon the unfortunate dog. The boats stayed still for an instant, the men resting upon their oars, as if panic struck. But, again, in another instant, one of the boats was to be seen putting back, the men rowing with all their might.

Poor Bobby! he kept swimming away right and left, now diving, and now doubling, as if he knew his danger, while every now and then he gave a short fierce howl, and showed his grinders, never giving the vile shark time to turn on its back, which it must do before it can give the deadly bite.

The poor dog swam and dodged with a skill and speed, and maintained the unequal contest, in a manner that surprised every body, but it was evident that his strength was nearly exhausted, when the boat which had put back came sufficiently near for him to hear himself called, and encouraged to hold out longer. In this boat where his master, and his little boy, whose life the poor dog had saved three days before. They could now plainly perceive the great black fin and back of the shark, as he rose every minute to the surface of the water, pursuing and trying to gripe the dog. The poor dog swam with all his might towards the boat that was coming to save him.

Just as he nearly reached the boat, and could see and hear the master call out, "Here, Bob! here," the shark turned on his back and opened his horrid jaws—"Poor Bobby! dear Bobby!" shrieked the little boy; and a lad who stood at the head of the boat, hoping to save the dog, threw a handspike that he held at the ravenous monster. But the lad was in such a flurry, from terror and anxiety, that he missed the shark, and the spike fell into the water.

At this affluence the child screamed aloud with agony of fright and sorrow, "Oh! save poor Bobby! save my dear, dear Bobby!" and every body thought poor Bobby was gone, when the father of the child, who, ever since the boat had come within gunshot of the shark, had been watching for the proper opportunity to save the faithful dog, fired. The gun was levelled with so true an aim, that he shot the cruel shark through the head, and splintered those horrid jaws that were ready to devour poor Bobby. The shark sunk, the sea became tinged with blood, and the officer, throwing down the gun, stretched out his arms, and pulled the dog, exhausted with fatigue and terror, into the boat, before the shark, who was not quite dead, could again rise to the surface of the water. The child threw his arms round the poor dog's neck; the sailors in the ship, who were all intently on the watch, and the men in the boats, set up one loud shout of joy! "Hurra! hurra! Bobby is safe—the shark is killed: hurra! hurra!"

Getting Corned.

"Father, do they ever salt men down?"

"What do you mean, my son. Certainly not."

"Why father, I saw a man yesterday in the street, walking so crooked that he couldn't hardly stand—and folks said he was 'corned.' I thought if putting salt on any body made them act so ridiculous, that I'd never be 'corned,' if I could help it."

The father laughed slyly at the boy's spunk, and told him he might go to bed, and he would explain the matter to him on the morrow.

Countess Bertrand was with her husband at St. Helena. The following anecdote is told of her. On the birth of her child, the Emperor complimented her on its beauty. "Sire, I present you the first Frenchman that has entered Longwood without permission of Lord Bathurst."

OF KENTUCKY.

The approaching session of Congress will be one of great interest. There will, undoubtedly, be a strong and unwonted effort on the part of John Tyler and his particular friends, to present special issues and to blow them up into significance. The annexation of Texas will be one of these issues, and to gild this pill all the prejudice, and all the hatred, and all the fears existing in this country against England, will be skillfully addressed. We have a foreshadowing of this already in what is now said upon this subject. The following extract from the letter of Gen. Duff Green, gives the cue to the mode in which slave holders and manufacturers are to be addressed:—
" We should remember that England is governed by her interest; that all parties here concur to the opinion that the restoration of her prosperity depends upon increasing the consumption of her manufactures. That while the Duke of Wellington and the Tory party believe that the surest and best means of doing this is to increase her colonial possessions and monopolize their markets, the liberal and free trade party, who, disgusted with the Whigs, put the Tories into power, believe that, once establish free trade, and then it will be for the interest of England that the colonies shall become independent nations, as soon as they are competent to govern themselves. That this party desire to see all other nations prosperous, because in proportion to their wealth and prosperity will be their ability to consume the products of British industry. Let us be true to ourselves—let us demonstrate that there is no foundation for Sir Robert Peel's belief, that Mr. Adams and his co-conspirators can dissolve the Union or abolish slavery, and the good sense of this great people will coerce this government into making arrangements with us, that will so much identify their interests with ours as to terminate forever the intrigues which now threaten to disturb our peace. What would England care about our occupation of the Oregon, if she had free trade with us? But let her believe that abolitionists are about to destroy the value of our slaves, and that they may soon expect to substitute the products of India for those of America, and it will be the interest of England to aid them, even by a war, in the accomplishment of that object. She has too much diplomatic tact to acknowledge her real purpose, because that might alarm the other European powers, who are to be the victims of her policy, and hence she will keep the Oregon question open, to be used as the pretence on which hostilities are to commence. And this will be whenever their American allies, John Quincy Adams & Co. can satisfy them that their object, the abolition of American slavery, can be accomplished."
How far these appeals can be made effective, we are unable to say; but we are satisfied that the people of the north are opposed to the annexation of Texas. They have no love for the grasping power of England, but they have less love for the all crushing policy of slavery.
Modern Democracy.
The pretence of Democracy is universal good. Fair and specious promises are its main pillars. Demagogues are the best acquainted with its purposes and designs. They handle the word with elastic caution. It premeditates great care and love for the people. It assumes the garb of the humble and aims to dismantle the prosperous. The confiding heart of the poor is its appropriate soil to engender its vows. It pours forth its virtues to all whose ears are open to receive its blessings. It is not impoverished by giving vent to its hatred of monopolies, although these be but the small means of the mass combined together for the public good. It regards all associations with the profoundest horror. Its feminine nature fears the loss of its purity, hence it does not openly show its head without a veil. The darkness of its eyes is its glory. It feeds upon the voice of public adulation. Becomes the most venerated where it is the least known. It is the most subservient commodity to political anatomists now extant. Aspirants to places of honor have embraced it so often and so hard that it has become soiled—and rumor, ever ready to give the news, hints illicit intercourse has been had with twenty-three foreign powers. Its progress is as diversified as it is corrupt—and as debased as it is extensive. It is a cheat. I have been a humble suitor at her shrine these two score years and ten. I have been deceived, and and I now forsake her forever.
AN OLD DEMOCRAT.
A correspondent of the Portland Advertiser makes some inquiries relative to the intelligence brought by Capt. Cole of the Abigail Richmond, arrived at this port. We have made inquiries, and Capt. Cole informs us that he left the brig Magnolia of Portland at Point Petre on the 21st ult., and would be ready to sail in a week or ten days. The crew had all been sick, but at the time of his leaving were all on board. The brig N. E. Frothingham, of Wilmington, N. C., was discharging cargo.
We endeavor to give a correct and useful shipping list and have made certain arrangements on which we mostly rely. Our income will not afford the employment of a man for that purpose, and those who possess information of this sort do not always think to impart it to us. We renewedly invite our friends and ship masters to furnish us with intelligence, and we will reciprocate the favor in some way agreeable to them.
"V" of the Gazette lavishly grants greater perfection to the whig party than its friends claim. Perhaps he can find practical exceptions to the rule he agrees to that private character should be left untouched in political contests, without travelling out of his party.

On Saturday last, Constable Walker succeeded in securing a female thief, who two or three weeks since stole money from the house of Mr. Ezra Jewell belonging to one of his workmen. The name of the girl was Emma Hazen a mulatto. Suspicion rested upon her at the time, and on Saturday as she was returning home upon the rail road embankment she discovered Constable Walker and started to run. He gave chase and on examining her wallet, found a part of the stolen money. She had thrown away eleven dollars in bills while on the race. Seventeen dollars of the 40 stolen were recovered. Lodgings were provided for her in jail.
On Saturday evening while Messrs. Rundlett & Getchell left their Store to go to supper, some person broke in the door and robbed the draw of about twenty dollars. Constable Walker was put upon the search, although no one was suspected. He set himself about hunting up two foreign rogues that were in the city, and in less than an hour, and at the first ground hop he secured fifteen dollars of the money and had the rogues in jail. They gave their names as Edward Smith and William Mann both Englishmen, late from St. John City, N. B.—Constable Walker is getting to be a terror to evil doers.
The ship Astracan, of Portland, Wigan from Boston to New Orleans with an assorted cargo, was dismantled on the 3d inst. in lat. 38 n., lon. 68 w., in a hurricane. For six days 21 souls quenched their thirst with water found in a few bottles of cranberries, the water casks having been stove.—She was supplied with water by the bark Sarah, from Boston. The Sarah took four of her crew and one passenger, the owner's son. The A. arrived in Newport on Thursday last.
Loss of the Texan Steamer Sarah Barnes.
We copy the following from the New Orleans Bulletin of the 17th inst.
Captain Arnet, of the sch Caroline, has informed us that on his passage from Vera Cruz he put into the Sabine river on the 27th ult. when it was blowing a heavy gale, and there learnt from a fisherman living on the beach, that the Sarah Barnes had been totally lost, and that he had been commissioned by the mate of the steamer to seek relief for the sufferers.
He further stated that the Sarah Barnes sprung a leak on the night of the 25th ult., about 30 miles east of the Sabine river, the wind blowing a gale at the time, and that the steamer was immediately headed for land under a full press of steam and canvas, but that in spite of every exertion, she finally sunk in six fathoms water.
The boats, which had been previously lowered, were filled with the crew and passengers; but the one containing the Captain and others, was swamped in the heavy swell, and only a few managed to reach the shore, on some bales of cotton.
The particulars, to be sure, are very unsatisfactory; and we must await further arrivals to obtain intelligence of this melancholly disaster.
Important Arrest.
The Saco Repository says that by the arrival of the cars on Thursday evening, Sheriff Lane and Tufts brought to Saco a man by the name of Ebenezer K. Hatch, of Wells, charged with being the person that placed the obstruction on the Railroad track, a few weeks since, causing the death of the engineer. A train of circumstances led to his arrest, which will in all probability be sufficient to hold him for further trial. He is about 40 years of age, stout and robust. He has a wife and children living in Wells. He appears very much depressed in spirits.
A disgraceful riot occurred on Monday night last, near the corner of Eataw and Baltimore-sts., Baltimore, in which a number of firemen were engaged. Several brickbats were thrown, one of which struck police officer McLaughlin in the forehead, producing a severe and dangerous wound.—A number of pistols were discharged, but without doing any injury. The presence of the Mayor, Maj. Law was soon announced, and by his prompt action the riot was quelled and the belligerents dispersed.
An unhappy occurrence took place on board the American ship New York at Vera Cruz. The captain, by accident, or otherwise, had shot one of the crew, named Wm. Holly, had been arrested by the American consul, and the affair was undergoing an investigation, Sept. 27.
There was a very respectable snow storm in Vermont on the 23d inst. From 18 to 24 inches of snow fell, and the farmers had not half their potatoes dug. The pumpkins were still in the fields and the turnips were not harvested.
The platform of the freight house at East Albany, gave way on Wednesday afternoon, carrying with it 700 barrels of flour. No damage or injury was done, with the exception of thirty barrels being completely smashed.
The acting President has remitted the balance of the time of four years from the 4th of June, 1840, for which Com. Elliott was suspended, to take effect on the 18th inst.
There came yesterday into this port nine colored men on board the ship Mary Phillips, as her crew, from Rio de Janeiro. They were arrested by the warrant of Recorder Genois, to be kept in prison as the statute directs, until the ship is ready to leave the port.—N. O. Pic. 17.

Ingenious people, like the yankees, when they have a lot of old gun barrels contrive to make them do good service by fixing them up into iron bars. A cast-iron plug, forming a head, is firmly fixed in the muzzle; the breech is steel-pointed and fashioned in the proper shape, and its makes a handsome and convenient bar for farmers and others.
Professor Espy's Ventilator is now in use for ventilating all the vessels of the United States Navy, the public offices at Washington, and on a multitude of chimneys in the country. We know of no recent invention that has so rapidly come into general use as this. They are made in great perfection by Albert Noyes & Co. on central street. Those who are afflicted with a smoky chimney can find a certain cure.
In the London Times, a short time ago, appeared the following advertisement:—For sale, an excellent young horse. Would suit any titled lady or gentlemen with a long silver tail."
The New Orleans papers advise young men without friends and without means not to seek employment in that city, as the prospects for success are very poor.

State Legislation.
To the Editor of the Whig & Courier.
My Policy of Insurance expired to day at noon. It was issued just one year since, by our most worthy and enterprising Merchant N. O. Pillsbury Agent for the good old established Etna Insurance Company Hartford Conn. I called upon the agent this forenoon for a renewal and judge of my surprise when told that his agency was no more. What said I, how happens this? You are not a defaulter. You are true to the party? Said he I will tell you how it is. The Legislature last winter passed a law to tax the Agents of all Insurance Companies located out of the State and the tax upon my agency amounts to three or four hundred dollars more than the fees I receive, and as the Company have lost in this State $14,000 more than their receipts they do not feel able to pay this tax as the rates of insurance are at the lowest rates which they can possibly be made. And in as much as they now are as they always have been, uniform, they will not raise the premium and therefore they have withdrawn the agency.
What an illustration this of the Legislation of the State of Maine! It is heresy to Democracy itself, that syren word which would blast the world in eternal Slavery. It is an outrage and a burlesque upon the intelligence of freemen, an obnoxious burdensome law, and unworthy the faternity of the worst tyrant that ever grasped the liberties of man. To ride rough shod over the interests of the public by the enactment of such a law
"Is a deed so black
That my foiled tongue represses it a name."
I cannot express my contempt of such illiberal policy in any language I can command. It is all wrong in tendency and practice.
Let us look at it. Take the case as it is. Here is an Insurance Company which stands at the head of every other in the land—established on a firm basis, with Directors of unimpeachable character for promptness and liberality, known by their high reputation throughout the States and in Canada. Every body has confidence in them. They never failed to pay a loss. Their real losses in this State are $14000—of course the citizens of the State have gained that sum. Yet the company are ready to insure as they have before, at the same low rates, But now the State in her Democratic sovereignty and Free Trade principles, steps in like a despotic dictator, and zeal without knowledge and says to her citizens you cannot avail yourselves of the benefit of this Institution.
I ask when did you or I or any body else surrender to the puny, narrow-minded Legislature of Maine the right to dictate to whom we should go to obtain an Insurance? Who gave them the power, and where is this deed of transfer recorded? I ask who gave the right to us the owners in fee and in fact of houses, stores, merchandise &c. to go to Portland and get insured.
Are we of this city to be obliged to go there to obtain an insurance, or to become an insurer, while he gets insured as one must in a Mutual Insurance Company, or the alternative of no insurance. This law was passed for the benefit of a few at Portland, who formed an Insurance Company there—but for one I am not disposed to throw myself into their hands. I am a free-man and wear no chains of party.
Had the State, in the combined wisdom of the Legislative assembly, composed as it is of so many luminaries of learning, coming from every part of its wide domain, passed a law of general application and to support and protect the industry of its citizens, I would not find fault—but such a law as the one referred to, is a foul blot upon the Statute Book, a reproach to the State, and ought to be null and void.
Why don't the State pass a law prohibiting the purchase of goods in other States, or to go a little farther (as the principle is about the same) pass a law preventing citizens of other States from purchasing our potatoes, lumber or any thing else?
Will the Legislature hereafter introduce some common sense laws, and oblige those who wish to secure what little of this world's goods they may have by their industry accumulated?
Yours, Respectfully,
"UNINSURED."

Penmanship.
To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:
Mr. Shed, from your City, has been teaching Penmanship in this place for a number of weeks past, and has given universal satisfaction to his pupils. Forty scholars have attended his Writing school here the present term, and he never fails to obtain a large school when he comes into the place to teach. We think highly of Mr. Shed's system of Penmanship, and that he deserves a large share of public patronage, which, by the way, he obtains wherever he goes.
Yours, &c. A. H.

Importance of a comma.
The Marrietta Intelligencer, correcting an error in a previous number of that paper, furnishes the following illustration of the importance of placing the comma in the right place:
"John Newland Maffit, says John Quincy Adams is the most learned man in this nation."
It should read—
"John Newland Maffit says, John Quincy Adams is the most learned man in this nation."
Quite a difference.

CURE OF ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF
THE BLOOD, OR HABIT OF THE SYSTEM,
NAMESLY:
Scrofula, or King's Evil, rheumatism,
obstinate cutaneous eruptions, pimples,
or pustules on the face, blotches,
bites, chronic sore eyes, ring worm or tetter, scald head, enlargement and pain of the bones and joints, stubborn ulcers, syphilitic symptoms, sciatica, or lumbago, and diseases arising from an injudicious use of the mercury, ascites, or dropsy, ex-posure or imprudence in life. Also, chronic constitutional disorders will be removed by this preparation.

The proprietors submit to the public the following certificate, from a highly respectable source of a cure made by using their preparation of Sarsaparilla, which cannot but have the effect of placing beyond all doubt the curative powers of this medicine.

NEW YORK, August 3, 1842.
"Messrs. Sands—Gentlemen: Under a feeling sense of gratitude inherent to us all when suddenly relieved from suffering and disease. I now as an act of justice due to you, and with a view of relieving the afflicted, make known to the world the inestimable benefit I have received from the use of your Sarsaparilla. In the year 1832 I sailed from England in a vessel bound for Quebec, and while on the passage first discovered the disease which afterwards proved to be a sore affliction, and truly I can say,
"from the crown of my head to the sole of my foot there was no soundness in me." From the time first mentioned down until the present, a period of more than ten years, I have suffered all that human nature was capable of bearing. I have been under the care of the most distinguished physicians both in this country and in England, visited Bath, Cheltenham, Bristol and Gloucester, tried various specifics, among others a large quantity of Swann's Panacea, used sulphur baths, &c. As a last resort
I was induced to wrap myself in a tar ointment, keep myself secluded, shunned by all, myself also shunning. I was induced to believe my case a hopeless one.

In August last, by the advice of friends I went to the New York City Hospital, but was there told that my case was incurable. The disease now enveloped my whole body, rendering me almost helpless; the skin thickened and cracked, and blood and matter ran, and life itself became almost a burden.
A few weeks since I was induced to use your Sarsaparilla by hearing its highly recommended having spent nearly $3,000 without obtaining but little relief. After using it a short time, I found myself better, and now, by using six or eight bottles, costing me less than ten dollars. I am well. Yes I certainly and declare to the world, that after spending near $3,000 in traveling and doctoring, and suffering more than can be told, I was perfectly cured by using your invaluable preparation of Sarsaparilla; and I now recommend it to all similarly afflicted.
Those wishing to know further particulars will find me at my residence, No. 27 Warren street, New York, where I shall be happy to communicate any thing in relation to the above cure.

Price $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5.

The public are respectfully requested to remember that it is Sands' Sarsaparilla that has and is

PATENT MILL WHEELS.
THE Subscriber having for a long time given his attention to the construction and operation of Water Wheels has finally succeeded in the invention of two kinds of Wheels for which he has received Letters Patent from the Government of the United States.

These Wheels are simple in their construction, cheap and durable, are easily put in operation, and are not liable like most other wheels to get out of order, they are not obstructed by back water, when the head is not diminished thereby; and the same power and speed is obtained, with about one half the quantity of water usually applied to wheels
now in general use.

A great number of these Wheels are now in operation and give in all cases entire satisfaction; and for further information respecting them the following gentlemen are referred to, all of whom have some of said wheels in operation. Jacob Drum-

Dr. D. Jayne's
FAMILY MEDICINES.
JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT.
THIS invaluable medicine is daily effecting some of the most astonishing and wonderful cures that have ever been known. All who have used it for Asthma, Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, Croup or Hoarseness, Chronic Pleurisy, Houseworn Cough, Pain and Swelling of the Breasts, Difficulty of Breathing, and every other disease of the LUNGS and BRONCHITIS, can and do attest to its usefulness. BRONCHITIS, a disease which is annually sweeping thousands upon thousands to a premature grave, under the mistaken name of CONSUMPTION, is always cured by it. The usual symptoms of this disease, Bronchitis, are Cough, Sore-ness of the Lungs or Throat, Hoarseness, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, Hectic Fever, a Spitting up of Phlegm or Mucus, and sometimes Blood. It is an inflammation of the fine skin which lines the inside of the whole of the wind tubes or air vessels, which run through every part of the Lungs. The Expectorant immediately suppresses the Cough, Pain, Inflammation, Fever and Difficulty of Breathing, and produces a free and easy expectoration, and a cure is soon effected.
It cures Croup, ASTHMA. Two or three large doses will cure the CROUP, or HIVES of children, in from 15 minutes to an hour's time. It immediately subdues the violence of WHOOPING COUGH, and effects a speedy cure. Hundreds who have been given up by their physicians as incurable with CONSUMPTION, have been restored to perfect health by it.
If this Expectorant be given in the commencement of PLEURISY, INFLAMMATION OF THE LUNGS, or in intermittent RHEUMATISM, it does sufficiently large, so as to cause a little nausea for some time, going to bed and covering up warm, it will produce perspiration, and subdue these affections at once.
PRICE 50 cts.

Tonic Vermifuge.
WORMS IN CHILDREN. Of all diseases to which children are exposed, none are so fatal to them as WORMS. Unfortunately, children are seldom free from them, and as they imitate the symptoms of almost every other complaint, they often produce alarming effects without being suspected. They are not only a cause of disease themselves, but by their irritation aggravate all other diseases, wandering themselves up into large balls, and obstructing the bowels, and frequently the throat, causing convulsions, and too often death. The desired remedy will be found in Dr. JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE, which will very soon destroy the worms, and invigorate the powers of digestion so as to prevent a return of them. PRICE 50 cts.

JAYNE'S CARNIATIVE BALSAM.
THIS is one of the most efficient, pleasant and sub-limations ever offered to the public, for the cure of the various derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, and the only article worthy of the least confidence for curing CHOLERA INFANTUM or SUMMER COM-PLAINT, and in the above and following diseases, it truly acts like a charm, viz:
Dysentery, Diarrhea, or Loose Stools, Cholera Morbus,
Summer Complaint, Cholera Griping Pain, Sour Stomach,
Sick and Nervous Headache, Heartburn, Water Brash, Pain or Sickness of the Stomach, Vomiting, Spitting up of food after eating, and also where it passes through the body unchanged. Want of Appetite, Restlessness and Inability to Sleep, Wind in the Stomach and Bowels, Hysterics, Cramp, Nervous Tremors and Twitchings, Sore Throat, Scurvy, Eruptions, Melancholy and Losses of Spirit, Eructing and Crying of Infants, and for all Bilious Affections and Nervous Diseases.
PRICE 50 cts.

Hair Tonic.
NO EXCUSE FOR A BALD HEAD. Since the important discovery of Dr. JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC, very one may, if they choose, preserve their hair from falling out, or if already bald, may, with certainty, have their hair restored again by a faithful and persevering application of this valuable HAIR TONIC.
Please to read without prejudice the following communication, which, in addition to hundreds of others equally respectable, should remove the doubts of every reasonable person of the uniform and singular efficacy of JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC.

Dr. D. Jayne, Dear Sir: I cannot say my hair is restored, but I can say that it appears to be in as rapid a process of restoration as could reasonably be expected.
I had not finished the first bottle, before a decided change was manifest over the bald part of the head, to which it was applied. A new growth of fine glossy hair, much like that of an infant, appeared, and has continued to increase, and I have had it cut two or three times. I have recently commenced upon the third bottle, but have been a good deal irregular in the use of the Tonic from the first and from this cause I apprehend the effect is at present less than it otherwise would have been.

I began the use of the Tonic with little or no faith that it would ever be successful on my head, though I felt entire confidence in your statements of what it had done for others, and I was as much surprised as delighted when I saw the effect. You recollect the appearance of my head when in your office. I assure you the hair has been nearly, if not quite, an inch long at the times I have had it cut, on those parts which were nearly destitute of any when you saw me. It was, however, very fine, though quite thick. I am flushed with sanguine hopes of final success, in the diligent use of your Tonic, which, amidst all the hair balmings which have been advertised in the papers, I am constrained to believe is what it claims to be, and that it will make the hair grow, and do mistake, at least on some heads.

Jayne's Sanative Pills.
These Pills are an excellent, mild and safe purge at all times, and are exceedingly useful in Dyspepsia and obstructions of the Liver. Persons taking them can eat and drink as usual, without fear of injury, and, what is of infinite advantage, making the use of mercurial preparations, so frequently used in derangements of the stomach and liver, unnecessary.

These Pills may be taken at all times, and are beneficial in nearly all diseases. They have long been a favorite prescription of the proprietor for all obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Uterus, and all other organs of the body—Inflammation, Intermittent, Remittent, Bilious, and every other form of Fever—Jaundice and Liver Complaint. For Dyspepsia they are really an invaluable article, gradually disengaging the vitiated secretions of the stomach, and producing healthy action in that important organ. They are very valuable in diseases of the Skin, and for what is commonly called "dis-cussure of the blood," also for every disease where an Aperient, Alternative or Purgative medicine is required.

Four Fifts of the numerous and distressing cases of DYSPEPSIA POSITIVELY CAN BE CURED by a persevering use of this valuable SANATIVE.

They are expressly prepared to be used as an Aperient, when purging is necessary, while using the Expectorant, and for the removal of obstructions in the Liver, which are often attendant on some of the diseases of the Breast.

The Egyptian Balm of Life being an invaluable Family Medicine, should not be neglected in the Spring and Fall by any member of a family, as a Grand Auxiliary to the efforts of nature, in throwing off superfluous humors, generated in the winter and summer months, thus preventing as well as otherwise curing the above distressing maladies, and giving a healthy tone and proper action to all the grand operations of the system.

This Medicine has long sustained an unrivalled character for excellency in the private practice of many eminent practitioners in Europe, yet remaining at the same time undervalued in the possession of the individual of whom it has been purchased.

Its now exerting a salutary influence on this side of the Atlantic, and it is recommended to those who may be laboring under any of the diseases for which it is designed as a specific, and also as a preventive of disease, on its first appearance.

For a more particular description of the above medicine we would refer to the envelope accompanying each bottle.

Many valuable certificates might be produced of the benefit received therefrom. Hundreds in the State of Maine, as well as in other States, can testify to its superior efficacy, but the proprietor is willing for the public to judge for themselves by trial. A few names how-

PENOBSCOT ss District Court, Oct. Term A. D. 1843.
To the Hon. the Justices of the District Court, for the Eastern District, to be begun and holden at Bangor within and for the county of Penobscot, on the first TUESDAY of Oct. A. D. 1843

RESPECTFULLY represents Sarah Balch of Dedham in the county of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that she is seized in fee simple and as tenant in common of and in certain real estate in Brewer, in the county aforesaid, bounded as follows, to wit—beginning at a stone on the bank of Penobscot river, thence running South fifteen degrees East four hundred rods by land formerly of John Turner to a stake, thence Southwesterly on the proprietors land about twenty-three rods to a stake in the corner of land formerly of Nathan Phillips, thence North fifteen degrees West about four hundred rods to the county road, thence North sixty-eight degrees East eleven rods and twenty links to a stake and stones, thence North fifteen degrees West to said river, thence by said river to the first mentioned bound, the same being fifty-seven acres with all the privileges and appurtenances thereto belonging. Also one other lot situate in said Brewer bounded as follows, to wit—beginning at the bank of Penobscot river, at the Northeastly corner of land formerly of Moses Knap, thence South fifteen degrees East four hundred rods, thence South eighty-four degrees East, eighty-four rods, thence North fifteen degrees West to Penobscot river, thence Southwesterly as said river runs to the first bound, the same being two hundred acres and lot No. sixty-six according to the plan and survey of Eliashub Delano. Also one other lot situate in said Brewer bounded as follows, to wit—beginning at the Northeastly corner of land of J.
Green formerly of Bryant Bradley, thence South fifteen degrees East, four hundred rods, thence North sixty-four degrees twenty rods to land of Calvin Green, formerly of R. R. Nash; thence North fifteen degrees West four hundred rods to said river, thence Southwesterly on said river as the same runs to the first bound—the same being fifty acres of the Southwesterly half of lot No. fifty-nine according to plan and survey of E. Delano—
Also one quarter part of an hundred acres of land (with the exception and reservation of one acre of land, with buildings thereon conveyed by R. Treat to Samuel Smith) situate in Bangor in the county aforesaid, with one quarter part of a saw mill and one quarter part of a grist mill thereon standing with all the privileges and appurtenances thereto belonging—the same being one undivided fourth part (with the above reservation) of lot No. twenty-six according to Park Holland's survey of the town of Bangor, being twenty-four and three quarters acres of land—and lot is bounded Southerly by the lot on which William Forbes now lives. Also sixty-five acres of land in the easterly part of lot No. seven in Brewer—said lot is bounded easterly by the town line between Brewer and Edington, Southerly by lot No. 6, Westerly by lot No. fourteen, and Northerly by lot No. eight, as by plan of said town. Also a lot in said Brewer, known as the Amasa Mann lot, the same being numbered thirty-four, and containing one hundred acres according to the plan of the town of Brewer—and the said Sarah Balch has right of entry in said premises, and is seized in fee simple of an undivided half thereof and as tenant in common with Luther H. Eaton, Eliza W. Eaton, Lucy Ann Eaton, Clarissa D. Eaton and Lucy S. Eaton, all of Bangor aforesaid and heirs of Luther Eaton, late of Edington in said county, and certain other persons to your petitioner unknown, that she cannot possess, occupy and improve said lots to any advantage while the same lie in common and undivided as aforesaid, but wholly loses the profits thereof. Wherefore she prays that notice may be issued in due form of law, and that her part aforesaid may be set off and assigned to her in severalty.

SARAH BALCH.

STATE OF MAINE.
PENOBSCOT ss District Court, Eastern District,
Oct. Term 1843.

On the foregoing petition, ordered that the said petitioner give notice to all persons interested of the pendency of his said petition by publishing an attested copy thereof, and of the order of Court thereon, in the Bangor Courier, a newspaper printed in Bangor, in the county of Penobscot, three weeks successively, the last publication to be thirty days at least before the next term of said Court, to be held at said Bangor, on the first TUES-DAY of January next—that all persons interested may then and there appear and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.
